

Salerno Landing Not Easy; Photos Show Battle For Foothold

Landing of the U. S. Fifth Army at Salerno was a bloody, desperate battle against strong German defending forces. American and British casualties were fairly heavy as the troops fought to gain a foothold. These News of the Day Newsreel photos show some phases of the battle as the Allied forces moved in to shore. The Allies cargo vessel, left, its plates buckled and torn, received a direct hit by a German bomb. Ack-ack fire from the Allied ships brought down the Axis plane, shown falling in flames, center. A landing craft is hit squarely by a German bomb, right. (International Soundphotos).

African Based U.S. Fortresses Blast Munich

By WES GALLAGHER, Associated Press Writer

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Oct. 2.—Northwest African air force Fortresses and Liberators teamed up yesterday for their first double blow at Germany from African bases.

In this first demonstration of the offensive wallop that eventually may rock Germany from the south as well as the west, the Fortresses made a 1,800-mile round trip flight, their longest from their African bases, to pound Munich.

The Liberators, returning to a target which they hit on a 2,500-mile jaunt from their Middle East bases on Aug. 13, attacked an aircraft factory at Wiener Neustadt, 25 miles southeast of Vienna.

The Allied airmen lost 14 planes in those two body blows and in raids in Italy in which night bombers attacked lines of the German retreat from Naples. Pontoon bridges at Grazzanise, 20 miles north of Naples, and Formia on the Apennian way 44 miles northwest of Naples, were attacked in the night forays.

The American losses were small compared with 59 heavy bombers which failed to get back in an attack on Schweinfurt and Regensburg, in the same area of Germany, in a raid from Britain on Aug. 17.

Flying Fortress bombers said direct hits were made on buildings in the Munich area, despite heavy clouds.

Between 55 and 60 German fighters attacked the Fortresses but the bombers' gunners accounted for eight of them.

Hit Aircraft Plant

Direct hits also were reported by the Liberators on the Henschel aircraft factory at Wiener Neustadt. The Liberators, too, were intercepted by about 90 German fighters.

An air force announcement said the victories by the Liberator gunners had not yet been counted up.

A communiqué said, perhaps significantly, that yesterday's Wiener Neustadt raid had been carried out by Liberators recently moved from the Cairo theater and attached to the Northwest African group.

The heavy bombers braved bad weather to fly over the Alps. Both Munich and Wiener Neustadt have been attacked before by Allied bombers based on the British Isles—Munich for the first time by RAF planes on Sept. 6.

The Allied communiqué said the raid on the Munich target was carried out by Flying Fortresses while Liberators hammered Wiener Neustadt. Heavy cloud formations over the target areas prevented accurate observation of results but bombs were seen to land in the target areas.

Enemy fighter opposition was encountered by both formations but the communiqué did not indicate its scope nor did it give any details on American or German losses.

To Use Italian Base

An indication that the Allies intend to take full advantage of Italian airbases for further attacks on Germany was seen in the announcement that Middle East Ninth U. S. air force Liberators have been placed under the command of Lt. Gen. Carl A. Spaatz, thus placing those bombers as well as North African planes under one command.

Fortresses and Liberators will be 500 miles nearer Germany than their present North African bases when the airfields of Foggia on the Italian mainland are put into use by the Allies.

The Fortresses winging into Germany were escorted almost to the Alps by P-38 Lightnings, but went on from there alone.

In their attack on Wiener Neustadt, the Liberators also were credited with direct hits on the Henschel factory, on the Styrian plant which produces armored vehicles and on nearby hangars.

The War Today...

By DeWitt MacKenzie
AP War Analyst

THE GRAVE famine on the densely populated eastern seaboard of India, to which this column drew attention a week ago, is reported to have grown worse, with hundreds dying of starvation despite government efforts to expedite importation of foods and grains from foreign countries.

As I reported at that time, there is deep concern over the situation not only among impartial British and Indian circles but in important American quarters. This plague of hunger comes on top of the British-Indian political crisis which has been marked by bloody disturbances during the past year. There is fear that unscrupulous people may be able for ulterior purposes to merge the discontent growing out of these two situations, thereby creating a nasty combination.

The point of American concern is, of course, the fact that India is the arsenal of the Orient and the principal base for the coming offensive against Japan through Burma, across the way from Bengal. American interest is multiplied by the fact that we have heavy military commitments there and are building up a big base for operations against the Japs.

Important American military and political people, while not doing much talking on the situation, are anxious that a fresh effort be made to settle the political imbroglio. From their viewpoint a disunited and unhappy India is bound to act as a brake on the efficiency of this great arsenal, even if it's conceded that the British government can keep the lid on and prevent disorders. At best it's an uncomfortable situation. At worst it would be terribly dangerous.

That's not the whole picture, though. If India arrives in the post-war period with the political problem still unsettled—perhaps with

COUNCIL ACTS ON STREET JOB

Transfers $7,000 For Resurfacing of Six Paved Thoroughfares

City council, at a brief special meeting Friday night, transferred $7,000 from the auto license fund to the street maintenance and repair fund for the resurfacing of six streets in the city and also appropriated $1,500 from the waterworks fund for the purchase of a new car for Service Director Frank Wilson and to allow for a $600 improvement at the waterworks pumping station.

Originally, it was planned to resurface seven streets, but, in order to keep the costs down, E. State st. was eliminated from the improvement list for the time being.

Both ordinances passed last night as emergency measures.

The streets to be resurfaced, and the order of their improvement are Washington, Woodland, Franklin, S. Ellsworth and W. State st.

The materials cost is set at $550, with $150 charged to labor.

The second ordinance approved by the council provided for the expenditure of $600 for an automobile for the service director, replacing an old one which has been in use for a number of years, for the expenditure of $600 to cover the cost of a small building erected at the pumping station by City Engineer F. S. Barkhoff to house water treatment mechanism.

Honor Fr. Cook At Farewell Program

A farewell program will be held at 8 p. m. Sunday in the Memorial building honoring Rev. Fr. Herbert Cook, who Thursday began his new duties at St. Brendan's parish in Youngstown.

The program, sponsored by the Knights of Columbus, will be in charge of Grand Knight Ralph Whitehead. John Gonda will speak for the St. Paul parish where Rev. Fr. Cook has been assistant rector since 1937.

Children of St. Paul's school will appear on the program.

Rev. Fr. Cook will be assisted by Rev. Fr. William Krefe at St. Brendan's.

Appointed here as assistant to Rev. Fr. J. Richard Gaffney is Rev. Fr. John P. Lavelle of Youngstown.

ONE DAY REMAINS IN BOND CAMPAIGN

WASHINGTON, Oct. 2.—More than a billion dollars over its goal at $1,220,000,000, the Third War loan still has a day to go.

Only two states, however, have met their "small money" quotas.

They are West Virginia and Georgia.

Thirteen have reached or exceeded their over-all allotments, which include sales to institutional and banking buyers. Delaware, New Jersey and Virginia were added to that list in last night's announcement of $68,609,000 in sales for the day.

350 Billion Debt Is Seen For U. S. If War Lasts To '45

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, Oct. 2.—State Tax Commissioner William S. Evatt predicts a national debt of 350 billion dollars and a possible federal budget of 20 to 25 billions annually, if the war lasts until 1945.

Evatt, in an address prepared for the Republican women's club of Ohio last night, declared he "holds unbounded optimism over the future of America."

He said taxes resulting from the war may total seven billions annually, but added that "no one should have complaint" over them.

Factors which will be included in the annual budgets in the post-war period, Evatt asserted, are principal and interest payments on the national debt, operation of military establishments at a cost of about five billion a year, "perhaps six billions" for ordinary government expenses in addition to post-war rehabilitation or public works programs.

"Our future fiscal problems will probably not be easy," he commented. "But if given a chance we can and will meet the situation. The problems can be met under a federal administration which practices economy rather than extravagance, which throws out thousands of employees, which encourages free enterprise and affords opportunity for American ingenuity to expand and grow."

There were indications today that East Palestine, Salineville and East Liverpool, which have been lagging, might reach their goals by tonight.

Lisbon reported a total of $470,000, topping its quota by $23,000. This total includes some township territory in the Lisbon area, of which Hanover township alone reported sales of $72,000. This is the best report of any rural section in the county.

With the drive closing officially tonight, County Chairman L. H. Colley had reports today indicating something over $300,000 would be added to the county total and he predicted the quota of $382,000 would be exceeded by a million dollars.

CITY, COUNTY SALES MOUNT

Salem $693,176 Over Top, With County Topping Goal by $645,000

(By Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Oct. 2.—Santa Claus, apparently maintaining the same tireless energy in wartime as in days of peace, will pack an almost normal load of joy into his sleigh for distribution to the nation's youngsters this Christmas.

Although deprived of many of his old properties because of shortage of materials and vexed because of insufficient workers, Santa has been putting in an extremely busy year trying to meet a 20 per cent uptick in ahead-of-season demand for toys and games for the kids.

The toy and game manufacturers and distributors in Chicago's merchandise mart who help set the stage for Santa said today indications were that retail sales will total around $200,000,000—approximately 10 per cent under last year's total. They said that if demand for the toys and games could be met sales would skyrocket past the record quarter billion mark set in 1929.

Holding sales at the predicted level was described as "a highly creditable job" by John C. Goodall, the Mart's general manager.

He said after new lines of toys and some old ones revived were put on the market and quickly taken by retailers there has been a continual stream of improvisations. These and scores of new type games will relieve serious shortages, he explained.

Military slanted toys and games continue to dominate the field, but there is a wide variety and apparently enough to satisfy all of Santa's customers.

First degree work was exemplified in full form Friday evening when Goshen grange was given its annual inspection by County Deputy Master F. C. Heintzelman, and Goshen juvenile grange was inspected by Mrs. Heintzelman, county juvenile master.

Application for membership was received and one new member was elected. A net gain in membership was reported for the year.

During the business session the charter was draped for Mrs. Edward Buraw.

The lecture hour featured a duet by Marilyn and Bruce Weingart, a talk on Agriculture, Otis A. Rhodes, reading by Mrs. Clarence Weingart, talk on the motorists' financial liability law, Alfred H. Stratton; floral dialogue by a group of juveniles; vocal solo, Miss Priscilla Heery; harmonica and guitar music, Frank J. Yengling.

Pan Future Meetings

Wednesday evening, Oct. 6, the young people of Mahoning county granges will meet for a social time at Goshen grange hall.

Nov. 27 recently elected officers of Mahoning county Pomona grange will be installed at a meeting at Smith grange hall, at Snodes Station.

During the lecture hour, Mrs. F. C. Heintzelman, on behalf of the juvenile matrons of Mahoning county, presented a baby blanket to Pattie Lou Capel, whose mother, Mrs. Roy Capel, is matron of Mahoning county Pomona grange.

Lunch was served by the social committee.

TROOPS FIGHT NORTH OF CITY

5th Army Meeting Sharp Opposition From German Rearguard

(By Associated Press)

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Oct. 2.—British and American troops, feverishly welcomed by the surviving population of Naples, forged on past that devastated city today and fought steadily northward toward Rome and the next defense line of the Germans.

Meeting sharp opposition by German tanks, mortars and machine-guns, the forces of Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark were said in a communiqué to be making good progress, both to the north of the captured port city and to the east.

The British Eighth army of Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery, meanwhile, captured San Severo, 18 miles north of Foggia, and Lucera, 12 miles northwest of that air base center, Allied headquarters announced.

All of the Monte Gargano peninsula—the spur of the Italian boot—also has been occupied in a 30-mile advance by Montgomery, a spokesman said.

Waterfront in Ruins

Allied troops entering the city of Naples, found the waterfront a solid area of ruin, reports from the battleron said, but the rest of the city was orderly.

Gen. Clark himself entered the city yesterday afternoon, and the first advance patrols which took over the occupation were followed by a steady stream of troops tanks and vehicles.

All of the city's million people who had remained in Naples through the bombings and then survived the German reign of terror joined in a happy welcome to the Allied warriors who drove on through the city in pursuit of the retreating enemy.

A military spokesman said military police had taken over control of the city until local police could be reorganized for the task.

Before retreating the Germans heavily mined the city's streets, but as fast as they finished the job the Neapolitans dug out the explosives and, according to reports given the Allied vanguard, buried them on the road north of the city over which the Germans were about to retreat.

THIRD WAR LOAN DRIVE

Salem established a reputation long ago of doing every job it undertook so well that few were surprised when it exceeded its quota in the Third War Loan drive. It would not have been content merely to reach the quota, even though it seemed like a high goal at the beginning. But to surpass it by such a large figure is ample justification for this community to take pride in another accomplishment.

While there was not a single reason for Salem to fail to do its utmost in lending its money to support the boys fighting on battlefronts around the globe, it could not have held its head up as it does today at the conclusion of the Third War Loan drive, unless the people responded to the appeal. More than twice as many individuals bought War Bonds in this drive as in the second campaign last April. That is proof in itself that the job was well done. But most of the credit belongs to the 300 volunteer workers who visited every home in Salem and went back several times to some until they found the occupants and urged them to do their part in "backing the attack with War Bonds". It was the finest demonstration of community service and patriotic endeavor this city has witnessed in many, many years. The captains and campaign leaders labored long hours to organize for the drive, and the workers labored long hours to make the drive a success.

In spite of all this, the campaign was not the complete success it should have been. As the drive closed today, there were still many uncompleted pledges—promises to lend the government their money for war purposes which were not fulfilled. And there are still many thousands of idle dollars in Salem which should be put to work. More of these were brought out of hiding than in either of the other two campaigns, and perhaps by the time the next drive is announced still more will be invested in the safest place in the world today.

Salem shares its pride in accomplishment with its county chairman, L. H. Colley, who did what seemed like the impossible by pulling the county over the top. Results attained in most of the north county cities helped him reach the county goal, but there is no reflection on the south county cities whose leaders worked diligently even though results were not quite so good.

Columbiana, which always has done a good job in any community undertaking, more than upheld its reputation in the Third War Loan drive. The same may be said for Leetonia, the first city in the county to reach its goal, and for Lisbon. Of the three, perhaps Leetonia deserves the lion's share of praise, for it has less to draw from, yet did an outstanding job.

REDUCING GAS RATIONS

Reduction in the value of B and C gasoline coupons has been accepted by the driving public with fewer complaints than might have been heard a year ago. It is becoming apparent to most people that there is a growing shortage of gasoline over the country and what can be saved in this section, where there has been an ample supply, will help other sections. There has been much unnecessary pleasure driving on the part of B and C holders, and frequently this has worked a hardship on those who have actual need for occasional supplemental gas coupons.

Abuses in gasoline rationing will be minimized by the new curtailment. Those who can prove they need more than now allowed will have an opportunity to apply for more coupons. This will give rationing boards a better chance than they have had in the past to determine the validity of many claims. If B and C holders do not apply for more, consumption of gasoline will be reduced materially.

It seems certain that boards will scrutinize each request closely. The result should be that essential driving for war workers will not be jeopardized, and that necessary business driving can be assured.

JUNKET JUDGMENT

In the judgment of Senators Russell of Georgia, Mead of New York and Brewster of Maine, who are home from a 40,000-mile inspection trip of United States battlefronts, Germany will succumb first, but the real enemy is Japan. It may be 1945 before the Japanese can be disposed of.

This junket judgment reflects popular judgment on the problem of the war. The American people have no quarrel with the strategy of ranking Germany ahead of Japan on the list of enemies to be disposed of, but they believe Japan comes before Germany on their list of war problems.

Circumstances make the war in the Pacific primarily an American project, just as the war in Europe is primarily a project for the British, Russians and others most vitally concerned. It will be a great day when Germany collapses, but the war will not be won until Japan has been beaten.

INDEPENDENCE FOR THE PHILIPPINES

In this government's anxiety to let loose of the Philippines it virtually invited Japan to supplant it as a dominant influence there, which Japan finally did as part of the plot that came to light at Pearl Harbor.

Now that Japan is sitting tight in the islands and preparing to exact an enormous price for any attempt to recover them, a congressional committee is holding hearings on a bill to give the Philippines independence immediately, instead of on July 4, 1946, as provided in the Tydings-McDuffie Act. The new bill also bears the name of Sen. Tydings, Maryland Democrat and principal proponent in recent years of the Democratic notion that the Philippines, having been won under a Republican administration, should not be recognized as having any value.

Obviously, on and after Dec. 7, 1941, something happened to the Philippines. What had been up to then the fear that Japan might use them to threaten the United States in the Pacific became the fact.

Philippines who dreamed of independence woke up as suddenly as the Americans who dreamed of isolation. They learned there wasn't any such thing. However much they valued the spirit of the promise, however well they responded in the war crisis to the good faith they had been shown by the United States, their thinking about independence underwent extensive revision. Nor can it be overlooked that Japan, too, is offering them independence now, which puts the ironic climax on the whole proceedings.

When the last Japanese has been shot out of the last tree and the Philippines again can be claimed by the United States without bringing on a series of horse laughs from Tokyo, then will be the time to reopen discussions of independence for what then will be, next to the British Isles, the most strategically situated aviation base in the world.

THE STARS SAY:

For Sunday, October 3

SUNDAY'S horoscope holds promise of moderately successful and pleasant activities for the young, in intellectual and cultural circles, with particularly fortuitous conditions for spiritual, mystical, all inspired or idealistic work or aspirations. In this there may be little endorsement from elders.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may expect a lively and profitable year, in intellectual, professional or creative efforts, with success in travel, communications, contracts or agreements. Strategic or undercover agreements may make definite progress, with tact, diplomacy or connivance proving lucrative. It may be most desirable to work independently as elders are not harmonious.

A child born on this day should be versatile, especially in all of the finer arts or creative expressions, with success through tact or under cover understanding rather than open dealings. Inspired effort or intuitive moves may win lofty objectives.

For Monday, October 4

MONDAY'S astrological forecast is for notable success and achievement in matters of important scope and consequence although there may be a deeply disintegrating or devastating set of circumstances. It may be necessary to the promotion of this major enterprise to make a complete about-face in plans, programs or policies, with change of scene and associations. Public or community approbation would not be out of the picture. Work with superiors outside of the domestic or sentimental circle.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is may look for advancement, with outstanding success or preeminence, of large scope and importance. However there may be certain devastating conditions or disruptions to overcome by prudence and consideration as well as adherence to conventional codes. Sudden change, removal, or complete change of plans or programs may be constructive. But shun discord or inharmonious in the home, social or romantic relations. Superiors are helpful.

A child born on this day may be ambitious and have certain talents and forms of genius, securing public or group approbation. Its purely private relations may not be productive of harmony or happiness, unless tact be cultivated in youth.

RUSSIAN DRIVE TAKES SHAPE

THREATENING THE GERMAN positions along the Dnieper river, the Russian offensive, if unchecked soon, may force the Nazis into a new retreat to defense lines far to the West. Russian pressure around the Kiev anchor is increasing and the fall of that bastion threatens all the Nazi-held territory to the South including the Crimea and the great naval base at Sevastopol. Backed up against the Pripyet marshes north of Kiev, the German line is being split in two, retreat through the marshes being impossible for large bodies of troops. Farther North, with Smolensk in Red hands, the German line is without an anchor and although retreat is possible into Poland there are no natural defense lines in this area east of the old Baltic-Polish boundary. GUARDING YOUR HEALTH

Cerebellum Acts As Body Equilibrator

BY LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
IF YOU did not have a cerebellum, or if your cerebellum gets out of whack, you are almost as badly off as if you didn't have any brain at all. The cerebellum lies at the base of the brain, is composed of the same kind of nervous tissue, but it has functions of its own. It is the great co-ordinator and equilibrator of the body.

It receives fibers from the centers for the eye, the ear, the organ of equilibrium, from the nerves coming from the skin up the spinal cord, and from the motor area of the brain. All these are fused to make the equilibrium of the body perfect. Then the cerebellum sends out fibers to the muscles which make them synergistic—move in unison and purposefully.

Acute alcoholic intoxication is a good enough example of disturbance of equilibrium to illustrate at least that perfect equilibrium is a co-ordinated function. The drunk's vision is disturbed—he sees double or triple; his organs of equilibrium, the semi-circular canals, are not functioning—give him an amateur Barany test by spinning him around and when you let go of him he is lost in an impenetrable forest; his muscles have lost co-ordination and he fumbles at his buttons, he cannot grasp even a glass without bracing his body and arms, pulls a coin out of his pocket and drops it on the floor. Yet his motor reflexes and skin responses are likely to be quite normal, he has no paralysis of the muscles and if you can get him to respond at all, he can determine the position of his fingers, toes, feet, hands, legs, etc.

Turning from the pathological condition of the drunk, let us consider the marvels even the humblest of us perform daily and hourly in the field of equilibrium. I am playing golf and I am, at the moment I am describing, about to hit a golf ball with the end of a club.

The golf ball in the first place is quite a small object—a sphere only a little over an inch in diameter. The face of the club is also quite small. My feet are about two or three feet from the ball. I am in no physical contact with it whatever. The face of the club is far from my body, controlled only by my hands. Yet I must bring not only the face but the center of the face of the club not only into contact with the ball, but within a spot geometrically opposite the exact center of the ball. I do not claim I always do this, but I do it perhaps two times out of three, and that I do it at all seems to me sort of automatically marvelous.

It is a triumph of my cerebellum. I am able to hold my body in a certain poised—my stance includes maintaining a tonus of my muscles, a correct sense of what my joints are doing, and of course my semi-circular canals are working like fury all through my swing. My vision is also involved. I have to keep my eye on the ball, or at least so I am told on the highest authority. And all these sensations and volitions are co-ordinated in the cerebellum.

Questions and Answers
A. J.: How long is the contagious stage of whooping cough? Is it true that children whoop long after the contagious stage is over?
Answer: The first three weeks are the most infective period of whooping cough, although strictly speaking the entire infective period lasts six weeks.

W. L. R.: What causes Burger's disease? Is there a cure or any relief?
Answer: Burger's disease is an inflammation and gradual closure of the arteries of the legs. Treatment means giving up tobacco, and the use of exercises which improve the circulation. Surgery is sometimes necessary. You certainly should have personnel medical advice.

Michigan Had Chief Executive, Acting Governor At 19

By JERRY RIDEOUT

United Press Staff Correspondent
DETROIT — At 23, Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota carries the distinction of being the nation's youngest governor. But Michigan once had a chief executive who could spot him at least a decade and still win hands down.

He was Stevens Thomas Mason, who was acting governor before he was old enough to vote and officially became the administrative head of the Michigan territory at the age of 24.

Actually, the "boy governor," as he is known in history, came into power when he was 19 years old. As one paper commented editorially, "We are left in a rather novel predicament. We have one judge and one acting governor who, if he lives until next October and no accident befalls him will be 21 years of age."

Governor Resigned

Mason was born Oct. 27, 1811, near Leesburg, Va., the son of John T. Mason. The family moved to Kentucky shortly after the "boy governor" was born and came to Michigan in 1830 when the elder Mason was appointed secretary of the territory by President Jackson. Shortly after taking up his secretarial duties in the territory, John Mason resigned to move to Texas ostensibly to assume ownership of a large tract of land he had acquired there. Some people, however, believe he was sent there as a personal emissary of the President to lay the groundwork for annexation of Texas, but this has never been proven.

President Jackson named young Stevens Thomas Mason secretary of the territory to succeed his father in July, 1831. The same month, the Governor of the territory, Gen. Lewis Cass, later a candidate for President, resigned to become secretary of war in Jackson's cabinet and the youth became acting governor.

Drew Opponents' Praise

He executed the duties of chief executive until Aug. 6, when Jackson named George B. Porter of Lancaster, Pa., governor. Porter was here only two months, however, when his business necessitated his return to Lancaster and young Mason again became acting governor.

Despite his youth, Mason did such a creditable job that even his opponents, the champions of Henry Clay and members of the Anti-Masonic party, praised him for his work.

He ordered out the militia to help put down the Blackhawk Indian war but recalled the troops when federal soldiers were sent here. He also led the fight to get the state admitted to the union and was elected the first governor under the constitution of 1835.

He was officially inaugurated governor Nov. 3, 1835, fewer than five months after his 24th birthday.

In Los Angeles—after he had given his blood
They found out he was a Marine furloughed back from war.
"I thought I was dead—but plasma saved me," he said,
"And I came in to pay back the blood I received."

*And what have you and I been through for the war?
Worked a little harder? Given hours and effort?
The pleats off our pants? Extra butter? Some driving?
Tin cans, some sugar and junk—loaned some money?*

The slender artist—she lost her fiance the day his wings
In the RCAF were to be pinned on his breast.
And then en route from camp to that funeral
Her younger brother crashed and died—only man in the family.

*And what have YOU suffered or sacrificed?
Prompt laundry service, a juicy steak, can openers,
A few lost leisure hours in some war work,
Some frills on food and maybe some drinks!*

His dad was a big shot and he could have stayed home
Holding down an office job—some sinecure—
But he fought, for he wanted to play his full part.
He's home now—having left both his legs in a foreign desert.

*You aren't asked to lose your legs,
Or be mortally wounded and then give blood.
You aren't asked to puff out your life in a crash—
You're asked to sacrifice some things around you
So you can lend more money . . . not GIVE it . . . LEND it!*

★ Buy a bond today no matter what it costs you in sacrifice and difficulty. Indeed, buy one BECAUSE it costs you sacrifice and difficulty. Let your spirit be lifted up, knowing you are straining and getting hurt—a little—to do your part. If the war were twenty miles away you'd sacrifice! Listen—it's closer to you than that. Salem High Beats East Palestine 19-6 For Third Straight

Quakers Held Three Times As Bulldogs Show Strong Defense Near Goal Line

Winning their third straight victory, Coach Ben Barrett's Salem Quakers defeated the East Palestine Bulldogs 19 to 6 at Palestine last night before 2,000 fans. It might have been a much more impressive victory if the Quakers had mustered some additional scoring punch in the second quarter.

Coach Barrett's squad lost the ball on downs three times in the second stanza to a hard fighting, inspired Palestine eleven. Coach Parker's team held Salem on the Palestine one foot line, four yard line, and five yard line to make three defensive exhibitions which had the crowd on their feet.

It was the Quakers' game all the way as they scored midway in the first quarter and twice in the final and their second touchdown. The drive featured runs by Wise and Greene and a final line smash of four yards by Wise to put the ball over. Greene's kick was blocked.

Salem Marches Again

With the fourth quarter well underway, Salem again showed their power and marched from their own 45 yard line to score from the 14 yard marker after Greene tossed a short pass to Wise who just got over the line before being hit hard. The kick by Greene for the point was low.

The game ended with a flurry of Palestine passes and a final 29 yard gallop by McGowan of Palestine to Salem's 25 yard line.

Coach Barrett said after the game: "It would have been a different ball game if those three threats in the second quarter could have tallied. Palestine played a hard game and deserves credit for those goal line stands."

Greene again played excellent ball for the Quakers and Wise performed well, especially on line bulks for first downs when they were needed. Plegge looked strong at right guard and Lanney showed up well at end.

The lineup:

stanza. East Palestine came back strong in the second half and scored six points after a kick by Greene was blocked and taken over by Palestine on the Salem 36. The Bulldog score came on a pass from Terrence to Nolan who was in the end zone when he took the ten-yard throw.

Salem Scores First Quarter

Salem showed real power in their offensive drive, but pushed only three scores across. Midway in the first quarter, after losing the ball on a fumble by Greene, Salem began a touchdown drive that went 77 yards for the first score. Greene started the drive by knocking off 20 yards around his own right end to bring the ball to the Salem 47 yard line.

Salem gained five yards on a penalty but missed a gain on a pass, Greene to Shea. With second down and five to go, Shea went through the line for 17 yards to the Palestine 31 yard line. Greene tried the line, Shea passed and it was third and ten.

Wise then tossed a short pass to Lanney which was good for eight yards, and on the next play he took the ball to the 19 yard line for first down. Greene then skirted 19 yards through a host of Palestine tacklers for the initial score of the game. His interference on this play was excellent and he managed to elude the Palestine backfield and score standing up. His conversion was perfect.

Second Quarter All Salem

Salem had the offensive during the entire second quarter but couldn't push across three almost certain tallies. The Palestine line was playing great ball inside its own ten yard line, and held the Quakers firmly when they knocked three times in about seven minutes of this quarter.

The Quaker squad marched three times, once 63 yards, then 30 yards, and finally 36 yards to threaten the Bulldog goal line, but the Palestine wall was too hard to pierce.

Palestine Scores in Third

Palestine took the ball on the 36 yard line, after a kickoff return that netted no gain. Julian was in hard on the kickoff to another Torrence as he caught the ball.

Palestine marched down the field 31 yards before Ben Kupka intercepted a pass to give Salem the ball on their own 43 yard line. East Palestine rushed Salem's next three plays and then blocked Greene's kick on Salem's 36 to take over and score.

The score culminated a drive by the Bulldogs in just five plays. McGowan ran 26 yards to the Salem ten to set up the score. After hitting the line three times, a pass, Torrence to Nolan, made the score. The line plunge for the point was not good.

Palestine then kicked off to Salem's 20 where Wise returned the ball on a nice run to the 40. From there on, the Quakers turned on the heat and scored, after marching straight down the field for 60 yards

Indians Should Win Both Games From Philly Today

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 2.—Pitchers Allie Reynolds and Al Smith were given the chore of keeping Cleveland's Indians in third place today. They were assigned to face an array of Philadelphia rookies talent in a doubleheader with the Athletics.

In a virtual tie with Chicago, the Tribesmen needed both games to stay ahead if the White Sox defeat Boston's Red Sox today.

Coupe Mack has recruited a batch of minor leaguers and the Clevelanders may face tougher opposition than the last time they encountered the A's. The Indians whipped the Mackmen five times in their last Cleveland series.

The Southern California-California collision at Berkeley and the 50,000 looked for at the Wolverines' appearance in Evanston. Notre Dame will be out to revenge last year's setback by the Atlanta Braves in their last Cleveland series.

Other midwestern games today have Missouri at Ohio State, Nebraska at Minnesota, Iowa entering Wisconsin, Iowa pre-flight at Iowa State and Great Lakes host to Pittsburgh.

In the east, Army and Colgate, both undefeated, are scheduled at West Point; Columbia opens against Princeton; Pennsylvania isn't expected to have much trouble with Yale. Brown opens against Holy Cross; Iowa men and Harvard sends its informal team to Camp Edwards.

Temple's freshmen eleven, which trampled V. M. I. 27-0 last week, was given a scare by Swarthmore at Philadelphia last night. The Owls rallied for touchdowns in the third and fourth quarters to win 13-6.

Georgia overwhelmed Tennessee 28-0 in a game played at Athens, Ga. in another Friday night game at Athens, Ga.

ALLIANCE DEFEATS POTTERS IN UPSET

East Liverpool Shut Out, 12-0; Miss Two Chances Near Goal Line

The Alliance Aviators scored an impressive victory over the East Liverpool Potters last night at Mount Union stadium as 8,000 fans watched the Liverpool squad be blanked by a powerful Alliance team, 12 to 0.

The game came as a surprise to many who watched the Potters play excellent ball against a strong Steubenville team last week. Alliance won the game with little difficulty, although the Liverpool team did tally once in the third quarter, but the score was not good because of an offside penalty against the Potters.

Alliance outscored the Potters to garner 11 first downs to 7 for the visitors. East Liverpool gained 87 yards on line plays while the Aviators rolled to 119 yards. The Ceramics tried 19 passes and completed nine for 77 yards, as Alliance completed four of 10 similar tries to gain 34 yards.

Alliance's scores came in the first and third stanzas with Rodgers plunging over from the Liverpool four for the first score. In the third quarter, Alliance counted again after the opening kickoff caught Liverpool on their own two yard line. The kick by the Potters was only to the 35. Alliance advanced the ball to the ten and then tailed as Eldner, a substitute, passed to Alcorn.

Liverpool threatened twice, once in the second quarter and again in the third. They advanced the ball to the Aviators 5-yard line and lost it on downs, and then to the three where they failed again.

REDS LUCKY THEY CLINCHED SECOND PLACE AWHILE BACK

(By Associated Press)

CINCINNATI, Oct. 2—It's a good thing for the Cincinnati Reds they clinched the second spot in the National league standings before the Brooklyn Dodgers came to town.

So far, in the present series, the Reds have had their ears pinned back twice by Leo Durocher's third-pitchers.

Latest humiliation came last night when Brooklyn beat Cincinnati, 2 to 1 in eleven innings and gave Buckly Walters his first defeat in a game played at home in the night season.

With the score at one-all in the eleventh, Dick Walker opened with a single and then stole second. Billy Herman tripled to score Walker and win the ball game.

The Reds were the first to score. They went to work on Ed Head in the first inning when Lonnie Frey, leading off, singled and stole second to score on Max Marshall's single.

Brooklyn tied it up in the fifth on an unearned run. Alex Cam-penis walked, was sacrificed to second and came home when Frey fumbled Luis Olmo's grounder.

The Reds missed sewing-up the ball game in the ninth. With one out and the bases loaded, Ray Mueller fanned and Walters hit into a force play.

The two teams play the third of the series today.

GUESSING GAME

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 2 — Billy the Kid Southworth decided today to let the baseball public indulge in a nation-wide guessing contest on his pitching choice for the opening game of World Series against New York in the Yankee stadium next Tuesday afternoon.

If the 50-year-old successful manager of the St. Louis Cardinals said he would not reveal his selection until the day of the game.

STATE LEGION HEADS WILL BE INSTALLED

COLUMBUS, Oct. 2 — Formulation of a post-war program for veterans of this war "is one of the most difficult tasks" which faced the Ohio department of the American Legion, asserts Rosier S. Williams of Oak Hill, newly-elected state commander.

Installation of new officers in the Ohio department takes place here today. In addition to Williams, others who will take office are: Richard A. Lindemann of Delphos, vice commander; R. B. Thrapp of Washington Court House, treasurer; Rev. F. Leonard T. Gerity of Brecksville, chaplain.

New district commanders to be installed include: Dr. A. J. McCracken, Bellefontaine; Joseph T. Carney, Cincinnati; Dean H. Galbreath, Columbus; O. P. Sharp, McArthur, and C. W. Whitemeyer, Canton.

Retired Official Dead

CLEVELAND, Oct. 2.—John J. McMahon, 69, a retired vice-president of the East Ohio Gas Co., died at St. John's hospital here yesterday. A native of Elliptonville, N. Y., he served the gas company 37 years until his retirement in 1939.

Postal Clerk Retires

ALLIANCE, Oct. 2.—Lawrence Whiteleather, for 20 years a parcel post clerk at the local postoffice, retired on pension yesterday.

Nazi Submarines In Action Again With New Type Torpedo

(By Associated Press)

AN EASTERN CANADIAN PORT, Oct. 2.—German submarines have returned to the battle of the Atlantic with a new type of torpedo—deadly and efficient—declared more than 100 survivors of sunken Allied merchant vessels who were landed here earlier this week.

They were victims of the first big Nazi U-boat attack reported in North Atlantic waters for nearly four months. Included were American, British and Norwegian seamen and a lone stowaway—an 18-year-old Negro girl whom a boatwain, also a Negro, had hoped to smuggle into the United States.

The seamen told of stabbing attacks by Nazi "wolf packs," and of a pitched battle between the undersea raiders and Allied naval and air units that continued for three days.

This was the same battle in which the Canadian Destroyer St. Croix was lost with 146 of her 147-man crew, and probably the one in which the U-boats surfaced to slug it out with long-range Canadian Liberator bombers.

The survivors included about 40 Negroes from an American ship. They did not know the total losses of the convoy and escorts, but they knew four ships of their convoy were sunk and at least one of a slow convoy preceding theirs.

They saw the St. Croix, her vitals torn by a torpedo, split in a sudden blinding explosion and carry to the bottom her crew and the survivors of other vessels she was picking up when hit.

They said the slow convoy first ran into the submarine pack on Sunday, Sept. 19, and that the battle lasted off and on through Wednesday.

Soldier Recovering

SALINEVILLE, Oct. 2.—The War department today advised Mr. and Mrs. John Gruszecki that their son, Corp. Frank A., is recovering from serious wounds received in the Battle of Munda in New Georgia. In a letter to his parents, Corp. Gruszecki said he had been awarded the Purple Heart decoration.

The War Today By DeWitt MacKenzie

the great Indian political leaders like Gandhi still locked up, as they are now—there may be a repercussion which will affect not only the British empire but all the United Nations. Indian resentment might result in alienating this great country with its 400,000,000 people from the Allies of the western world.

WE ARE fighting Japan to prevent her from making herself mistress of all Asia, and we shall succeed. However, there is another contingency which doesn't seem to be generally recognized, and that is the formation after the war of an Asiatic bloc of nations which feel that they have been left out of the Atlantic charter of the western Allies. That's no bugbear of the imagination but a very real thing, as I discovered during my trip through the Orient early this year.

One of the questions most persistently asked me was whether the Atlantic charter applied to the Orient as well as to the west. All the assurances which had been given on this point hadn't convinced the Far East that it belonged to the circle of the charter. China was anxious; so was India and other smaller countries of the Far and Middle East. The old tradition that east is east and west is west made them suspicious.

By the way, the sympathies of the neighboring countries of India and China, with their combined populations of some nine hundred millions—nearly half the population of the world—seem very close. China has given pointed signs in late months that she wants to see India's independence established. Many observers believe that settlement of the Indian political problem would go far towards removing the doubts of the Orient about the intentions of the Atlantic charter.

My investigations in India convinced me that the Indian leaders now would welcome a reopening of the case and would be prepared to compromise on issues which heretofore have precluded a settlement. That being so, the gateway to political peace could be opened if the British government found it possible to reconsider its decision not to resume negotiations until after the war.

America doesn't propose to interfere in the Indian crisis, but I know that many important people in this country would be happy, and relieved, if the case were reopened in the near future.

YANKS IN NAPLES

ern, Italian officials said, but extensive damage was done to the central and eastern portions when the Germans mined buildings and set others afire.

An official report said, "the port and railway station are in ruins. The port is a graveyard of Axis shipping. Some of the craft had been salvaged and repaired by the Germans, only to be scuttled a few days ago."

Fight Rearguard Action

The Germans obviously were determined to hold back the hard-hitting high-speed Allied armored columns until new defense lines could be prepared somewhere to the north. The enemy's armor was repositioned in a very vigorous rearguard action north of Naples and giving ground only foot by foot.

The same type of action was encountered by American troops advancing through the mountains north and northeast of Avellino to the east of Naples.

On the Adriatic coast, however, Gen. Montgomery still was meeting stiff opposition. His capture of Lucera lightened the Allied hold on all the 13 airfields in the Foglia area.

The number of Neapolitans who met death during the German rearguard over the city will never be known. Italian officers reported complete casualty figures had been destroyed when the enemy blew up the police headquarters.

The enemy had utilized to good advantage the week required by the Allies to crack the mountain line in front of Naples, however, and there was no prospect that the Fifth army had taken prisoners in large numbers in the Naples area.

A spokesman said the enemy had made an orderly retreat and he added: "It should be a masterful retreat. They've got Rommel (Marshal Erwin Rommel) in Italy and he is a master at rearguard fighting. He ought to be I—cause he's done a damn sight more of it than anyone else."

Three Cars Collide

No one was hurt in a three-car collision yesterday near Selwing, at the intersection of Route 62 and Twelfth st. ext. Drivers of the cars were Samuel W. Roberts, 53, of R. Carole Landis, Cesar Romero and Sonja Henie appearing in a scene from "Wintertime," with Jack Oakie and Woody Herman and his Orchestra.

Sonja Henie will be at the State theater Sunday, Monday and Tuesday in the musical, "Wintertime," which also stars Woody Herman's orchestra. Jack Oakie manages to get himself in several tight spots when he takes it upon himself to welcome Miss Henie and her uncle at the railroad station posing as a guide who directs them to his friends hotel which is in danger of being closed because of the lack of tourists. Cornel Wilde portrays the part of the hotel owner.

"Wee Bonnie" Baker is featured in "Spotlight Standards," billed at the Grand Wednesday.

Dorothy McGuire has the title role in "Claudia" which shows at the State Thursday, Friday and Saturday, with Robert Young in the masculine lead.

The method in which short wave diathermy equipment has been drafted by the Axis for its sinister espionage system is demonstrated in "Submarine Alert," which shows at the Grand Sunday and Monday. Richard Arlen and Wendy Barrie are starred. Also showing is "Hoosier Holiday," musical hit starring Dale Evans.

Humphrey Bogart and James Cagney share top honors in "The Oklahoma Kid," a return engagement at the Grand Tuesday and Wednesday.

A double feature, "Dead Mans Gulch" and "That Nasty Nuisance," closes the bill at the Grand Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Chicago Architects Plan Post-War City

(By United Press)

CHICAGO—The Chicago chapter of the American Institute of Architects has postwar plans for a city which envision quiet, landscaped residential neighborhoods with playgrounds and recreational facilities in areas which once were streets.

In the more densely populated areas there will be light, airy apartment buildings. Extra space will be obtained by eliminating unnecessary streets, replacing them with dead-end streets and landscaped areas, the architects predict.

"We know this will work," said Alfred Shaw, president of the chapter. "In the Ida B. Wells project built here in 1939 and covering approximately 20 blocks, 11 acres of streets were eliminated. This space now is devoted to playgrounds, recreation and parking."

People planning the future housing of cities like Chicago are interested primarily in new home gadgets, Shaw said, but rather in cleaning up the mess that unplanned building has cheated in most American cities.

"The first job is to explain to people how intelligent planning will increase their well-being and happiness," he said. "Then they will demand it."

The chief problem, he explained, will be assembly of large areas of property where most existing buildings will be razed, the entire area re-planned and new, modern buildings erected.

The smallest practical area for planned building, Shaw said, would be a city block, with larger areas more desirable because they allow more intelligent distribution of living and business properties.

"We want to plant trees instead of getting them out of the way," Shaw said. "We want to build homes, not just apartment and houses—in short, we want people to live instead of just existing."
